Final Bulletins

BRITAIN, FRANCE 'UNITE AS ONE'?

The British government has made a proposal that France and Britain unite in one nation, the British Broadcasting Corporation said tonight in a broadcast heard in New York. This would technically give Britain the French fleet.

Uruguay Holds Nazis

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Nine Germans were under arrest tonight as an investigating committee prepared a report to Congress on wide ramifications of Nazi activities which the report traced directly to Otto Langmann, German minister in Uruguay, and his immediate aides.

Reynaud to U.S.?

LONDON (CP)—A German radio report heard here tonight said Premier Paul Reynaud of France had left Lisbon, Portugal, by plane en route to the United States. (There was no confirmation from other sources.)

Hitler Speaks

NEW YORK (AP)—Adolf Hitler will make an announcement from his western front headquarters at 5:15 this evening P.S.T., said a report picked up here late today by the Mutual Broadcasting System from the German short wave station DJB.

NO DISHONOR

NEW YORK (AP)—Foreign Minister Baudouin in a broadcast heard in New York tonight declared "if we are given the chance between resistance and honor, the French people will know what to do."

"We are ready to lay down arms if we can get an honorable peace, but we are never ready to accept shameful conditions which mean the end of the spiritual freedom of our people," he said.

Post for MacMillan

VANCOUVER (CP)—H. R. MacMillan, Vancouver lumber exporter, has been appointed timber controller for Canada. It was disclosed here this afternoon following his return from Ottawa, where he conferred with Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply.

One of his chief tasks will be speeding up the supply of airplane spruce for eastern factories, he said. He will serve without remuneration.

STILL FIGHTING

LONDON (CP)—The French armies still are fighting on "the whole front," the French communique, heard here via radio, announced tonight.

No Armistice Yet

BERLIN (AP by Radio)—The German advance in France is continuing, informed sources said tonight. It was said no armistice has occurred and no capitulation has been signed as yet. These sources claimed that where the French still offer resistance all means are used to overcome it.

It was said the French in most cases appear to be laying down their arms already.

To British Ports

LONDON (CP)—All Netherlands, Polish and Norwegian ships on sea and bound for French harbors are being ordered by their respective shipping authorities to proceed direct to a British port, it was disclosed here tonight.

AT VERSAILLES?

ROME—Berlin dispatches tonight said the meeting of Hitler and Mussolini to decide France's fate would be "somewhere in the west," leading to reports the talks might take place at Versailles, where the World War peace was imposed, instead of Munich.

MEN FIT TO BEAR ARMS NOT REJECTED

"Numerous stories are being spread throughout Vancouver Island regarding men who allegedly endeavored to enlist and were rejected for frivolous reasons. This is obviously subversive propaganda fostered by people with evil wishes towards Canada, and should not be repeated by patriotic persons," said Brigadier C. V. Stockwell, district officer commanding, Military District No. 11, today.

"No man fit to bear arms is being rejected, and any statements to the contrary are false. Any loyal citizen hearing such propaganda or any other statements should report all details to the District Intelligence Officer at Work Point Barracks, where all stories will be traced down, and appropriate action taken against the offenders," said Brigadier Stockwell.

France's Fate Steels Canada, Says Premier

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons this afternoon the fate of France "will strengthen rather than weaken Canada's determination to increase our war effort both in the direction of increased measures for home defence, which should be now apparent, and in the direction of increased aid to the United Kingdom."

"The Prime Minister said it was not yet possible to give a clear picture of events. Following the breakthrough by German forces, the French army had not been able to reorganize effective resistance. The new French government was now seeking an armistice."

He would not minimize the seriousness of the blow to the Allies.

Mr. King said he would make a statement tomorrow which would include all available information. He would also include a statement of the measures adopted and proposed to meet the new situation.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill would make a statement to the British House of Commons tomorrow and Mr. King felt in a matter of such supreme importance, a statement should come from the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom before an attempt was made here to appraise the situation in its full significance.

The cabinet held a session shortly before noon, discussing new problems created by the capitulation of France.

Urges U.S. to Learn 'By Our Folly'

LONDON—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, editorially advised Americans to "learn by our folly," urging the United States not to believe that "3,000 miles of Atlantic can save you" and to ignore "soft words of reassurance that come from Germany."

Envoys Confer

MOSCOW (AP)—The German ambassador, Count Friedrich Werner von Schulenberg visited Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov tonight.

Grabbers Warned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate approved this afternoon legislation declaring the United States would not acquiesce in any transfers of western hemisphere possessions from one non-American nation to another.

France Capitulates, Britain to Fight on Alone

France early today gave up the fight against Germany. Great Britain will battle on alone.

Marshal Henri Petain, hero of the Battle of Verdun, broke the news to his countrymen in a broadcast.

"It is necessary to try to end the fighting," said the 84-year-old Premier.

"I made contact with the adversary last night, asking him as soldier to soldier to seek with me the means to stop the fight."

Paris had fallen. The industrial cities of the north were in the hands of the invader. The awatika flew over Versailles.

The Maginot Line, France's hope of security, was gone. And the German army of more than 2,000,000 was sweeping southward.

Petain, whose defence of Verdun 24 years ago gave her the watchword: "They shall not pass!" took over the government from Paul Reynaud last night after a day of cabinet discussions on what help the United States might offer.

France now awaits the German terms. Hitler from somewhere on the western front indicated he would talk first with Mussolini.

Rome tonight announced Mussolini would meet Hitler at Munich or somewhere in the west Tuesday to decide the fate of prostrate France. Mussolini left Rome at 8:30, accompanied by Ciano.

WHAT OF FLEET?

One of the uncertainties, London pondered, is the future of the French fleet. If it escapes the general capitulation order it would be of inestimable value to Britain. If it is handed over to the Germans—and it may be judging from Marshal Petain's broadcast—it would be a serious blow.

The French fleet was declared intact, but its disposition was uncertain.

CHURCHILL SPEAKS

Prime Minister Winston Churchill in London tonight reiterated that Britain would fight on alone against Hitler. In a 130-word international broadcast tonight from London, Churchill said:

"The news from France is very bad, and I grieve for the gallant people who have fallen into this terrible misfortune."

"Nothing will alter our feelings towards them in our faith that the genius of France will rise again. What has happened in France makes no difference to British faith and purpose."

"We have become the sole champions now in arms to defend the world cause and we shall do our best to be worthy of this high honor."

"We shall defend our island hope and with the British Empire around us we shall fight on unconquerable until the curse of Hitler is lifted from the brows of men. We are sure that in the end all will come right."

FRANCO INTERMEDIARY

Madrid announced General Franco had been invited to act as intermediary in the French-German armistice negotiations—and also to send delegate to any subsequent peace discussions.

FRONT SMASHED

French military spokesmen in Bordeaux said tonight there no longer was any continuous French front, and indicated the German forces had driven gaps between four French armies. He said the French had lost great quantities of artillery and other equipment.

Up to late afternoon there had been no response to France's request for an armistice.

As the reply to Premier Petain's announcement that France was suing for peace was awaited this authoritative survey of France's military position was given.

The second army, which was charged with the defence of Paris, has fallen back to the Loire, which runs through Tours.

The first army, on the west, was south of the Seine on the sea side of Rouen and Evreux.

The third army, in the Champagne region, had its front broken in the recent German drive.

The fourth army on the Alps front is intact, the Italians having failed until now to attack.

STILL COURAGEOUS

Paul Boudouin, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, also at Bordeaux, said in a broadcast tonight France never had shown more fortitude of soul than at the present hour.

"France keeps her courage, her dignity and her faith in the future," he said.

"Germany's crushing superiority in men and materials has not crushed France's morale."

He praised the "great assistance" given France by the British air force, fleet and soldiers.

"We seek to end the hostilities with honor," he said.

METZ FALLS

In the meantime, however, word came that France's super-fortress of Metz had surrendered to a German detachment.

(Basel, Switzerland, reported France had abandoned the Maginot fortresses, except for a few gunners.)

Announcement of France's new cabinet came in the midst of an air raid alarm. No bombs were known to have fallen.

The new ministry was formed after discussion of President Roosevelt's offer of material aid from the United States and of an apparently urgent message from Prime Minister Churchill.

The old cabinet had met briefly first yesterday morning and an announcement was made that the U.S. government had "declared itself resolved to develop assistance to the full extent of its resources to the exclusion, for the moment, of any declaration of war against Germany."

Position of U.S. Debated at Length

It was necessary for the cabinet, the new cabinet announced, to discuss further "in the light of information in its possession on the whole diplomatic and military situation, to what extent this reply of the American government is such as to permit France to continue the struggle on its own territory under conditions which can usefully serve the common cause of the democracies."

Premier Petain said France had entered into contact with Germans through the intermediation of Spain.

His announcement of peace overtures was no surprise, since the formation of his government generally was accepted as a prelude to a request for an armistice.

The nation had been in the greatest peril of its life from the unrelenting advance of 150 German divisions, between 2,000,000 and 2,500,000 men.

NEXT?

One thing, London felt as certain was that Germany's attempt to subjugate Britain was about to start. It may start at any minute or be delayed while the German forces get a breather after routing the French army, but there was no doubt that it is only a question of time.

How this will be attempted is a matter of conjecture but it has been known for some time that Germany has been practicing combined land, sea and air operations off Norway. The danger points are believed to be Elre, the Shetland Islands and Iceland, perhaps in that order.

Germany probably will attempt to seize one or all of these outposts as bases for operations against British forces.

On the British side, the British navy, with or without the help of the French fleet, will redouble its efforts to protect Britain and at the same time blockade not only Germany but the whole of Europe because almost everything in Europe must be regarded as German-occupied territory.

Units Withdrawn From France

Canadian Division Ready in England

OTTAWA (CP)—In conformity with plans of the Allied high command's arrangements for participation by Canadians in the fighting in France, last week some troops of the 1st Division, Canadian Active Service Force, were actually in France, Prime Minister King told the House of Commons this afternoon, but a change of circumstances made it advisable to withdraw them.

"Over the week-end effective steps were taken to that end," the Prime Minister said.

Cannot Battle On, Says Premier

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting Corporation reported hostilities ceased during the night in France.

The translation of Premier Petain's speech read from London by the British Broadcasting Corporation and recorded at Columbia Broadcasting short-wave listening station follows:

"French men and women: At the call of the French President I have assumed the leadership of the government of France. I have been thinking of those who have been fighting true to their old military traditions, against an enemy of huge numerical superiority. I also think of those old combatants whom I commanded during the last war. I have given myself to France to better her situation at this grave hour (or also translated: 'I give to France my person to assuage her misfortune.')

"At this moment I think of the unfortunate refugees, the men and women on the roads, driven away from their homes by the misfortunes of war."

"I express to them my sincerest sympathy and compassion. It is with a heavy heart that I tell you today that we must stop the fight. I sent a message to the enemy yesterday to ask him if he would meet with me, as between one

Before the Commons met it was learned the 1st Division is in England."

When the British started sending additional troops to France to aid the hard-pressed French army about a week ago, conjecture rose as to whether the 1st Canadian Division went with them. It was known the division was at the disposal of the British authorities and that it was one of the better equipped and trained formations then available in England.

The dictates of military secrecy, however, made it impracticable to disclose what troops went to France and what troops remained in England at the juncture. Thus the whereabouts of the Canadians remained wrapped in secrecy and still remain so, except for the brief intimation that they are now in England.

The 1st Division was mobilized on the outbreak of war and proceeded last December to England, where it underwent intensive training at Aldershot camp. While there, a number of ancillary units additional to the division but necessary for the formation of any army corps were dispatched overseas."

Petain Asks End of Fighting

the nation that the war is ceasing; and, as we told you last night, his intermediary it expected to be the ambassador of Spain. What the German terms will be, if they will give terms, none of us knows as yet.

"We understand that German troops are not very far away from the place from which the French radio is now operating."

MAYHEW URGES SHIP PROGRAM

OTTAWA (CP)—R. W. Mayhew, Liberal, Victoria, in the Commons this afternoon proposed a government shipbuilding program not only to provide employment but to help keep Canadian funds at home. He suggested the building of 50 merchant ships of 10,000 each at a cost of about $50,000,000. Canadian young men would be employed in construction and in operating the ships carrying Canada's exports.

Mr. Mayhew protested that Toronto, Montreal and other large cities were "altogether too grasping" in trying to keep industry centralized. There was no reason industry should not be scattered the full length of Canada's extensive railways.

Germans Advance Near Switzerland

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command in a communiqué today said:

"Fast moving troops reached the Swiss border near Pontarlier, southeast of Besancon, thereby closing a ring around the enemy forces in Alsace-Lorraine."

A Basel dispatch said that German mechanized units, moving into eastern France, were reported today to have reached the famous wine centre of Dole, in northern Burgundy, only 50 air miles from the Swiss border.

R.A.F. Scores in Africa

4 Italian Submarines Sunk in Mediterranean

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty revealed today that two of the four Italian submarines sunk by the British navy in the Mediterranean last week were sent to the bottom by the anti-aircraft cruiser Calypso, which herself was sunk later by an Italian torpedo with the loss of one officer and 38 men.

Last week three other Italian submarines fled for refuge in Spanish ports. One reported damaged.

FLIERS SCORE

CAIRO, Egypt (CP-Reuters)—The Royal Air Force reported today "most successful raids" on the Italian air and naval bases at Tobruk, Libya.

The commanding officer of the R.A.F. Middle East forces issued this statement:

"Displaying great determination, our airmen persisted in raids despite heavy anti-aircraft fire until extensive damage was done to ammunition and petrol dumps."

"There were several explosions and much black smoke seen after our aircraft left the targets."

"In the same area raids were carried out at El Aden and El Gubbi with some success."

"All our aircraft returned safely."

"Further attacks on Diredawa and Macaca were made by our bombers."

HANGAR BURNED

"At Diredawa a large hangar was set on fire and one Italian bomber burst into flames following a direct hit."

"One enemy fighter who tried to intercept our aircraft was hit and shot down. The machine dived at great speed with smoke belching out."

"Attacks carried out by the South African air force in Italian East Africa caused damage to eight enemy aircraft on the ground."

"Fighters tried to take off, but gave up the attempt owing to the fierce machine-gun fire from raiding aircraft."

"The aircraft and military camp at Meja, Ethiopia, was raided and several direct hits registered. Troops in a military camp were bombed and a machine-gun post silenced."

"All our aircraft are safe."

"Armored cars and lorries were destroyed and troops dispersed in the Moyale area, on the Abyssinia-Kenya border by R.A.F. bombers."

Border Bar Lifted

U.S. Flies Planes To Canadian Points

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States acted today to facilitate the delivery of war planes to the Allies by authorizing the ships to be flown across American borders.

Formerly, planes bought in the United States by the Allies had to land at the Canadian border and be towed across.

A new interpretation of the Neutrality Act, drafted by the Treasury and endorsed by the State Department, said that the border stops are no longer necessary.

Theoretically, the ruling made it possible for British planes to take off from the United States directly for Europe, although this flight would be too long for most of the ships purchased.

BRITAIN TAKES OVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The British government will take over delivery of more than 3,100 war planes contracted for by the French and now in the process of fabrication, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Of the total offers, placed by the French recently after several months of negotiation, more than 2,700 are combat-type planes. The remainder are trainers.

How soon the planes will be delivered to the British was not made clear, but the six factories involved are now stepping up their production curves in anticipation of maximum output by fall.

AMERICAN CARTEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced today that, with a view to submitting the matter to the other American governments and possibly Canada, a cabinet committee today would conclude a study of "the most effective manner of disposing profitably of export surpluses in the western hemisphere."

Nanaimo Death Still Mystery

Conflicting theories regarding which there was little tangible evidence upon which to build a coherent story confronted B.C. Police today at Nanaimo in the investigation of the death of Dan Stewart, 69-year-old relief worker, found dead in his cabin, where he lived alone, Friday.

Death of the elderly man was apparently due to severe bruises received about the head which caused a skull fracture, but how these bruises were inflicted is not known.

Police theorized he was either beaten badly by a human assailant, suffered a severe fall or was struck by an automobile and taken to his shack.

The first appeared the most logical for the time being, although police admitted no one had been able to offer any suggestion of ill-feeling between Stewart and any of his acquaintances. A fall did not appear likely as it was considered improbable such an accident could have resulted in such severe injuries.

There was evidence, too, that Stewart lived for some time after receiving his injuries, this period probably extending to a few hours or less.

Constable J. A. Young and Detective F. Giles of the C.I.B. from headquarters were in Nanaimo over the week-end conducting a fingerprint search and taking photographs.

No Neutrality Message

BUCHAREST (CP-Havas)—An official denial was issued here today of report published abroad that King Carol had sent messages to Turkey and Yugoslavia urging them to maintain strict neutrality. Turkey is allied to Britain by a mutual assistance pact.

Motor trucks in this country average 10,100 miles of travel a year.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

France's surrender to the German blitzkrieg 38 days after it was launched overshadowed all developments in the European scene.

Uppermost in the minds of all observers was the question of what was going to happen to the United Kingdom, if and how soon it might expect a German attempt at invasion and how the attempt might come.

Sir Neville Henderson, last British ambassador to Germany who knows the Nazi mind as well as anyone, told a Lincoln audience he expected an attempt would be launched this month or in July, and urged that every able-bodied man and boy be taught to use a rifle.

British opinion generally recognized the war had come to the little island's front and back doors and that it must make a fortress of itself. Already it is a tangle of barbed wire, a network of trenches and an armory of anti-aircraft guns. Above its towns and cities floats the aerial net of its balloon barrage.

GRAVEST IN HISTORY

Though the situation was more grave than at any time in modern history three potential friends—more grim, crouched in the background as possible aids to the partially-encircled island: Its navy's blockade, time and European famine.

How effective its blockade of Europe, virtually all Europe now, might be if the French were forced to surrender their fleet to be combined with the Italian navy and what is left of the German fleet, remained to be seen. How long enemy stocks of food and other essentials might last remained unknown. How terrible might be Europe's winter famine remained for the future to show.

Britain itself is believed to have enough food and other supplies to last through a long war. The question is how well can its anti-aircraft defences maintain its wartime industries at peak work.

Sir Neville said he expected the blitzkrieg to strike at Britain in three ways, through an attempt to strangle Britain in a blockade, to bomb her into submission and to attempt an invasion by sea and air.

It is more than doubtful if a German attempt at effective blockade would work, as Britain still has a bigger navy than Italy, Germany and France combined. Further, Italy's navy and part of the French is tied up in the Mediterranean along with a strong British fleet. The combined Italian navy and a surrendered French fleet might be a match for the British Mediterranean fleet, but they would still have to contend with the bottle-necks at Gibraltar and Aden.

An attempt to blast Britain into submission from the air would find a tough, aroused nation, possessed of excellent defences and imbued with the knowledge that life under the Nazis probably would be worse than death from bombs.

An invasion by sea would be an extremely difficult operation, and, perhaps, might be drawn out for a sufficiently long time to force Germany and Italy into the European famine that almost certainly will strike next winter.

What Russia is doing in the three Balkan states is not clear. The Soviets are reported to have showed about 500,000 extra men into those countries and to have moved in about 2,000 tanks already.

They would be a help if they are destined to attack Germany from the rear, even though they probably have no friendly wishes for the Allies.

It is clear the British Isles and the whole Empire are in for a rough time, and that to win they will have to give every ounce of effort they possess.

B.C. TO REVISE RELIEF LISTS

British Columbia will revamp its entire unemployment relief lists with a new registration, beginning August 1 with a view to reducing them to an absolute minimum.

Announcing the new registration today, Premier Pattullo said "only those to whom it is imperative will assistance be given."

The Premier noted that industrial activity in British Columbia had greatly increased, especially on account of the national defence program, and said it seemed evident there would be a still further increase in activity.

"Under these circumstances," he said, "it seems possible that great numbers now on relief to find gainful employment, and those now on relief should endeavor to find means of supporting themselves without government assistance."

'Till Autumn' British Cry

LONDON—An official statement said Germany has used up her resources "on a reckless scale."

It forecast that placing of the United States' resources at the disposal of the Allies would play an ever-weightier part in the war as Britain brings her full manpower to bear upon the Germans and Italians.

The London Financial News urged, placing of "the greatest possible" arms orders in Canada and the United States, paying for them "if necessary by the mortgage of the material resources of the colonial empire."

'HOLD TILL AUTUMN'

The newspaper said Britain could replenish supplies through her sea power while the axis powers could not.

"If we can hold on until autumn, however much European territory is lost in the process, our prospects will be bright," the paper declared. "Germany's strength, though great, will be waning, whereas the Allies' strength will be growing."

Referring to the statement of Henry Ford that his plant could produce 1,000 planes daily, the Financial News said "an order must be placed, whatever the cost."

SILENT ON REYNAUD FALL

Official circles deferred comment on the fall of the Reynaud cabinet in France.

Some expressed the opinion that Reynaud's position became untenable because part of his cabinet was not completely satisfied with President Roosevelt's reply to his "last appeal" for aid.

They awaited a fuller account of the developments from Prime Minister Churchill when he reviews the war situation for the House of Commons tomorrow. Informal sources said Churchill would call for redoubling of Britain's war efforts.

The Daily Mail said: "The French government know that Hitler is counting on their capitulation in the near future and is already shaping the terms he hopes to make."

PRAYER AND ACTION

While the nation observed a day of prayer for France yesterday, word of British activities during the week-end was brief.

The War Office said the British expeditionary force still was engaged with the French in Normandy, but offered no details.

The Admiralty announced that four "enemy" submarines had been sunk in the Mediterranean since Italy entered the war, but did not say if they were Italian or German.

Announcement of the Air Ministry said aerial activity had been "greatly restricted" during the previous 24 hours by adverse weather conditions.

The ministry said early today, however, that "there was some enemy activity on the south coast last night," one plane dropping a bomb that caused "negligible damage."

SEE KING

The British cabinet met yesterday with the French ambassador, Charles Corbin, and some hours later Neville Chamberlain, former Prime Minister and now Lord President of the Council, saw

TRY TO BURN PLANE MOTORS

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—A railway guard, Thomas Laign, foiled an apparent attempt during the weekend to destroy by fire a freight car laden with four airplane motors consigned from a Montana plant to the Fleet Aircraft Corporation at Fort Erie, Ont.

The fire is believed to have been set at Port Huron, Mich., across the St. Clair River from this Canadian border point. It was discovered before any serious damage had been done.

Holes were drilled through the floor from beneath the car and strips of blanket soaked in an inflammable liquid were shoved into the car under the crated motors.

THROUGH TUNNEL

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Free Press said that a freight car, which was set on fire Saturday night while en route from Port Huron, Mich., to Sarnia, Ont., via the St. Clair River international tunnel, was a part of a train which followed by only 25 minutes another supposedly bearing explosives.

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Gordon Conant of Ontario today said provincial authorities were investigating "very thoroughly" the attempted destruction by fire of four airplane motors at Sarnia Saturday night.

Inspector Charles Gunnert of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario Provincial Police was in Sarnia co-operating with Royal Canadian Mounted Police during the investigation, the minister said.

Urges Empire Centre Come to Canada

LONDON (CP)—The News Chronicle today published a letter, signed Edward Poor, urging shifting the Empire's centre of gravity to Canada and placing the British Isles under military governorship which "must be held as an advance base for civilization at all costs."

Poor wrote the collapse of French resistance would leave the islands the last outpost of western civilization in Europe and the United States will in self-defence have to declare war on Germany and Italy. He argues United States military help plus the Empire's production of aircraft and munitions cannot be sufficiently strong to undertake freeing Europe until spring.

Message From Churchill

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill has expressed "profound satisfaction" over Canada's action in declaring war against Italy, the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night.

"May I, on behalf of my colleagues and myself, express our profound satisfaction at this further demonstration of Canada's complete solidarity with ourselves in the critical struggle in which we are engaged," Mr. Churchill's message said.

Japan Eyes Even Australia

TOKYO (AP)—The newspaper Nichi Nichi asserted today the Japanese government was "greatly concerned" by the situation in which Far Eastern colonies "are almost without control from their mainlands" as a result of Allied reverses in Europe.

Nichi Nichi said that following the "ignominious defeat" of France, Britain, France and the United States had concluded a secret agreement for defence in the South Pacific, including new Caledonia, Australia and Indo-China. The paper warned that Japan would oppose any such joint control.

Observers predicted Japan would take an increased interest in the French possession of Indo-China and New Caledonia.

Yakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, said Indo-China had received considerable governmental attention although there had been no special conferences concerning it.

The Nichi Nichi said that in order to maintain a voice in readjustments after the European war Japan should "strictly watch" developments. It said she would oppose alleged efforts to place Indo-China under the joint provisional management of the United States, Great Britain and France, a project of which Suma said he had no report.

Suma disclosed that Japan had protested against a flight of a Netherlands East Indies plane over Japan's South Sea mandated territories last month, but added that "so far I do not think anything serious is occurring in the East Indies."

LOST R.C.A.F. PILOT FOUND IN ONTARIO

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP)—Flying Officer Edwin Albin Dixon, 40-year-old veteran of first Great War air battles, is safe in a hospital, recovering from the effects of six days' wandering in the rocky bush country of north-western Ontario after his Royal Canadian Air Force plane was forced down.

Three miners on a week-end fishing trip in an outboard motorboat were hailed by Dixon from a lakeshore yesterday and they took the flier to the hospital at Little Long Lac. He was suffering from exposure, lack of food and from severe insect bites, but his condition was not serious.

Dixon was not injured when forced down last Monday while flying from Kapuskasing, Ont., to Winnipeg with a squadron of 12 R.C.A.F. planes. He told his rescuers fuel shortage forced him to pancake on a lake some miles from where he was found.

Alone in the wilderness, Dixon decided to attempt to reach the railroad on foot and he was only about six miles short of his objective yesterday when he was heard by the three miners, Tod Cox, Jack Martin and Art Agombar, as they were going through a channel from Boulder Lake into an unnamed lake eight miles south of Geraldton.

Band Concert

An enthusiastic audience of about 2,000 persons enjoyed a varied musical program at Beacon Hill Park yesterday afternoon, when the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Charles Raine, presented its first open air concert of the season.

An excellent program of band selections had been arranged by Bandmaster Raine. Marches, waltzes, overtures, hymns, English and Scottish airs, patriotic selections and opera excerpts were played by the versatile musicians.

"Let Col. Lindbergh cease efforts to create unfounded fear and lack of confidence in our government," Pittman said in a broadcast reply to Lindbergh's Saturday night speech.

"Let Col. Lindbergh and his advisers know that when one fools with politics in a national emergency, he is fooling with disaster."

Lindbergh, who in previous addresses in recent months had demanded the United States remain aloof from Europe's affairs and urged that Canada break her ties with Great Britain, declared Saturday night that "we must stop this trend" toward involvement in the war and cease "these gestures with an empty gun."

Pittman, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, asserted that Lindbergh objected to the furnishing of war materials to Britain and France on the ground "that this will lead us into war."

ONUS ON GERMANY—The senator added, "Who would institute and conduct the war? Not the United States, but Germany."

Pittman said it was "significant that when the United States had its markets open to Germany for all the materials, arms and instruments of war that has built up Hitler's brutal machine, there was no such argument by Col. Lindbergh."

"It must be admitted the purchase of these materials is legal," he continued. "Then what is Col. Lindbergh's objection? It is plain and simple—that such legal actions will involve us in war with Germany."

"It appears that Col. Lindbergh, who has resided long in Great Britain as its guest, through fear of incensing Hitler would deprive the people of Great Britain of the weapons necessary to protect their lives against airplanes and tanks which, with our other materials, were supplied to Germany."

BRECKINRIDGE ANSWER—BOSTON (AP)—Henry Breckinridge, former personal counsel to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, yesterday assailed in a speech advertised as an "answer" to the flier, those who would try to "lull the American people into a false sense of security" by pointing to the breadth of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Addressing 10,000 persons on Boston Common at a mass meeting sponsored by the Boston Committee to Defend America by aiding the Allies, the former assistant secretary of war declared "it is inconceivable that America can exist as the only free nation in a world of conquering tyrants."

A cry "Hooray from Hitler" from an elderly man in the audience caused a flurry shortly after Breckinridge started to speak. A woman struck the man on the head with a magazine and a crowd surged toward him as police rushed him from the grounds in a patrol car.

Breckinridge called for all possible aid to Britain and France. Joining Breckinridge in urging an immediate material response to the Allies' cry for munitions,

Pittman Assails Lindbergh Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Key Pittman has called on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to "throw aside all of his false political advisers and volunteer in the United States government as an expert in aviation."

4 British Soldiers Break From Nazi Guards

By HAROLD FAIR

LONDON (CP)—Four bedraggled young Tommies who wandered without food for days, disguised as Belgian refugees after escaping from German guards in France, arrived home today with a story which makes any adventure thriller as dull as a stale newspaper.

With two French soldiers picked up as they launched their boat they landed after being at sea two days without food or water. Their uniforms were in rags. A coaster spotted them several miles from land, and brought them ashore.

Their spokesman, Corporal Patrick Hanley of Deal, said they had been kept eight days locked in a church after capture by a German mechanized column. A sentry came around hourly, but on the eighth day Hanley told his pals that if the sentry came that night he was going to clout him. "Well," said Hanley, "he came around once too often."

FOUND MILK

For four days the men hid in the woods without food or water. They obtained a little milk from cows.

They staggered to a barn, where they met a farmer who provided them with food. Then they met the Belgian refugees who gave them civilian clothes. They inquired the whereabouts of the British or French armies and walked miles as they were directed from one place to another.

"One of our little party got blisters on his feet," Hanley said. "We got him a bicycle and sent him ahead as a sort of observer."

tion post. Eventually we reached the Channel after nine days and after stealing another bicycle."

In one valley they were challenged by Germans who were looking for spies, and when they were unable to produce refugee papers they were taken to the commandant. Hanley said he did not speak Belgian. Neither did the commandant who gave them the benefit of the doubt.

DISGUISED ON BEACH—

"We got to the coast in time to see three British bombers destroy the German headquarters," Hanley continued. "Our problem was to find a boat. We reconnoitred the beach disguised as beachcombers with our trousers rolled up and pieces of seaweed across our shoulders."

Two French girls showed them where to find a boat, which they painted black after stealing the paint. The sea was too rough the first night, but the next night was calm. As they were about to launch the boat they heard a shout. They thought they were spotted, but it was a French soldier, whom they took aboard with a lieutenant.

"One man sat in the stern with a compass as we rowed," Hanley continued. "The French girls had given us food, but we did not need it—we were all sick except one. The even gave us a Union Jack to wave in case we were seen by British planes and a bag full of cork to plug the boat in case it was machine gunned."

Rowing fiercely and accumulating a healthy crop of blisters, they managed to get clear of the coast before daylight.

BRITISH SCHOOLS COMING TO CANADA

OTTAWA (CP)—Several British private schools are planning to move to Canada and migration of the pupils and teachers may get under way soon, it was learned here at the immigration division of the mines and resources department.

Pupils of both girls' and boys' schools are included in the scheme being considered. All expenses would be met by the parents.

In London at the week-end the Daily Mail said a Cheshire grammar school, with an enrolment of 400 boys, might be the first to be evacuated to Canada.

This movement would be apart from the refugee children immigration into Canada, which is receiving the close attention of government officials here.

LONDON (CP)—Plans for transfer of German prisoners to British possessions overseas or to a suitable island off the coast to lessen the danger of attempts by parachutists to free them are "believed under consideration by the government," the Press Association said today.

● When Jack Martin quit work, he immediately began to receive a comfortable monthly income from his life insurance.

Today, the Martins live happily in their little home, and they have enough money to take an occasional trip. Best of all, they have no financial worry about the future. They have an income that will continue as long as either lives.

The Martins are typical of thousands of Canadian men and women who have safeguarded their future through their savings in life insurance.

These thrifty people, in every part of the country, face the future with confidence. Their savings in life insurance not only protect their families today—but also build a comfortable nest-egg for their later years.

By owning life insurance, you don't have to "die to win". It's a significant fact that last year, nearly 70% of all payments by life insurance companies operating in Canada, were made to living policyholders. They thus received the benefits of their own life insurance during their life-time.

France

LAST MONDAY ITALY ENTERED THE war on the side of Germany. That was bad news for the Allies. This Monday the world has learned that the British Empire stands alone as the bulwark against Nazi and Fascist tyranny and the whole philosophy for which the totalitarian tribe stands. France has been obliged to give up. The terrible business of "making contact with the adversary" remained for 84-year-old Marshal Henri Petain—the man whose indomitable defence of Verdun 24 years ago gave France her watchword: "They shall not pass." Nor did they pass.

The precise reason for the resignation of the Reynaud ministry and the formation of a new government under the Premiership of Marshal Petain is of little moment as the Allied world and its friends try to readjust themselves to the new situation and its manifold implications. For the last week or more it had become increasingly obvious that the military problem in France would grow in complexity from day to day unless immediate assistance of unlimited strength could be given to the hard-pressed and exhausted defending armies. And how valiantly these men fought, the most difficult and trying type of battle. Day after day, assaulted by hundreds and hundreds of huge steel machines, continually harassed from the air by an overwhelming superiority in numerical bombing strength, compelled to meet wave after wave of fresh infantry divisions held in reserve for the final onslaught—these men did all and more than this and thought flesh and blood could do.

This is not the time to talk or think of what might have been. All the decent world will salute France in her hour of gravest trial; it will cast about to see how short the life of totalitarian gloating can be cut. For this is not the end of France. The battle for all that is right and just will go on. It is a tragic pause which may impose a bitter and exacting test on what we are pleased to call our modern civilization. But it must be our clarion call for action in whatever manner those in authority may deem necessary and expedient. Unless all the signs and portents are misleading, and there is nothing to suggest they are, Hitler will try to continue the program he long ago mapped out for himself. From the day he took Czechoslovakia he began to lay his plans for the elimination of those states which obstructed his path toward a Germanic hegemony. His tactics have been fashioned on the principle of dealing with these obstructions one by one. Poland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, and now France no longer remain on his schedule.

Nor is it any use, moreover, to hark back to the days when Britain and France warned the neutral nations that the preservation of their political and territorial integrity depended almost solely upon their collaboration with those pledged to the extermination of Hitlerism. Scandinavia had refused; Finland was ravaged and the swastika flies over Norway. Belgium and Holland were so sure that active co-operation with the Allies in a military sense was unnecessary that no co-ordinated defensive measures could be taken; the swastika flies over both countries. How Germany had prepared the ground in those states now under her heel is a matter of history. We leave Leopold of Belgium to his own conscience as he contemplates his own country and the plight of his own people; if we give him the full benefit of the doubt, we hope he can explain himself as he ponders over his father's memory.

What is to be the aftermath of this day's developments we do not know; what we do know is that the nations which are ringing their bells and enjoying this temporary victory of villainy over the decent way of life will somehow, some time, be brought to book. This must be the guarantee to the gallant nation which has fought the good fight. Long live France! must be democracy's watchword.

Supply No Enemies

BRITISH COLUMBIA IN PARTICULAR and Canada as a whole have a right to demand of the Dominion government that it immediately investigate any and every contract into which Canadian exporters of potential war material may have entered with countries which are pursuing foreign policies inimical to the well being and future safety of any part of the British Empire.

We on this coast have a great deal more than a passing interest in what is going on in the Orient. While a more or less solid front was being presented to Nazi Germany by the two principal democracies of the Old World, Japanese purchases of metals in Canada—much of it either meant for use against the Chinese or for eventual delivery in some form to totalitarian governments in Europe—protests in the main have been sent to Ottawa by such organizations as the Native Sons of British Columbia, Local Councils of Women, and other bodies charged with keeping an eye on this type of traffic. It now becomes a question of national policy. And this is no time for Canada to stand on ceremony in her dealings with firms or corporations that may be selling vital metals or other commodities to nations that will not hesitate to manufacture them into munitions for possible use against this part of the British Empire if, as it well may, the conflict between what is left of democracy and totalitarianism should come to this hemisphere in its most vicious form.

Hon. C. D. Howe, the minister in charge of Canada's war supplies and industrial reorganization, has taken wide powers to put this country in a position to furnish herself with all possible equipment for her own defence and to do as much as humanly possible to assist Great Britain—whose job before the collapse in France was an enormous one but whose perils and difficulties are now so manifestly greater. Although the new development in Europe as we write lacks clarification, and probably will remain confused until we know what terms Germany and Italy will propose to France, the new position in which Canada finds herself obviously requires the government to make doubly sure that no form of industry in this Dominion is temporarily profiting in the least particular by selling to foreign nations materials which enter into the manufacture of munitions destined to Germany or Italy—materials also which Japan needs and for which she still seems able to find the money to pay.

This is not to argue that Canadian exports of materials which also are employed in the manufacture of domestic utensils, as well as for munitions, should at once be prohibited. But the people of this country will want to be assured that such commodities essential for peacetime use in any foreign overseas market are not being shipped in quantities far in excess of normal requirements.

Much to Depend on Canada

UNLESS ALL PREDICTIONS OF THE last few hours are wide of the mark, the capitulation of France, with or without the surrender of her navy, may be followed by an immediate, or early, attack on the British Isles. Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador in Berlin at the time of the outbreak of war, expects the attempt this month or next, and he thinks Hitler will try three methods: 1. Starvation by blockade. 2. Bombing the populace into submission. 3. Invasion of Great Britain and Ireland.

Method No. 1, of course, largely will depend upon the disposition of the French navy. Method No. 2 presupposes that Britain's anti-aircraft organization and her supply of planes may not be sufficiently effective to frustrate the Nazi plan. Method No. 3 naturally will be determined by many factors on which it would be futile to speculate. It will be remembered that when Napoleon paced the sands at Boulogne at the dawn of the last century he thought he could find several ways of getting into Britain; but the supreme problem of the dictator who finally met his Waterloo was the finding of a way to get out. Perhaps Hitler may be more of a student of history than we realize. Sir Neville Henderson's advice to Britain in the meantime, however, is that every able-bodied man and boy be taught to use a rifle. Britain's chief apprehension naturally is the prospect of massed bombing of her vast industrial areas in which men and women are working day and night on the production of every form of fighting equipment. Those who know these districts and the topography of the country, with its network of railways and canals, its large power generating establishments—all in such a small compass—may well echo the sentiment of a letter which appeared in this morning's issue of the London News-Chronicle. "This urged the shifting of the Empire's centre of gravity to Canada and the placing of the British Isles under military governorship which 'must be held as an advance base for civilization at all costs.'"

It is natural that until France's position, and the attitude Germany and Italy will now assume, has been clarified the statesmen directly involved will get a good deal more advice than they will be able to use. But events occur and conditions change with such startling rapidity that it will not do for us to be surprised at anything. One thing is certain, however, and that is that industrial Canada is about to be subjected to a still further revolutionary adaptation to the vital requirements of the time.

We've seen everything now. Taxpayers are cheering because Parliament decided to spend so much of their money.

The ignorant, says Emerson, are suspicious. But, judging by what happens to them, not half suspicious enough.

Army ants aren't given that name because they march, but because nothing to eat remains where they have passed.

Freedom isn't a matter of doing as you please. The kid who goes to the circus isn't free if he first says: "Pleee, Mamma, can I?"

AND NOW

From Financial Post
There is only one question before the nation today: how our total resources in manpower, raw materials, industry and wealth can be mobilized for full use.

Clear thinking is the first need. Clear thinking implies that we set down frankly what Canada's role is to be.

Our primary role is still what it was: to contribute everything possible to the Allied war effort overseas; to help win the war in England and the Mediterranean.

While we are concentrating on that, we have to assume a second job: to prepare to win the war, even if England fails.

Churchill said:
"Even if this island . . . or a large part of it were subjugated and starving, then our Empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British fleet, will carry on its struggle until in God's good time the New World with all its power and might sets forth to the liberation and rescue of the Old."

We huddled those magnificent and inspiring words. Let us now realize what they imply—and plan accordingly.

STRACHEY TALKS BUSINESS

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE last decade there were two young British aristocrats in the ranks of the British Labor party. One was Oswald Mosley, dour, concealed, rich, and resentful at a world which refused to recognize him as the dynamic leader he felt himself to be. The other was John Strachey, scion of the old Tory family of Spectator fame. This family happened to have an understanding of the background of radical movements in Europe of the 19th century. After sitting around for years and waiting for the MacDonald government to do something about anything, but without satisfaction, these two young men founded the short-lived New Party. It survived just one by-election. The English electorate would have none of it. When the electors of the constituency were celebrating the defeat of the upstart party, and emphasizing their delight by heaving cabbages and somewhat harder missiles at Mosley, Strachey and Co. the two looked at each other and said: "It's no use."

Mosley became British Fascist catspaw for Mussolini and Hitler. Strachey became the one living Communist in the English-speaking world who could interpret the pedantic dialectic of Karl Marx into something intelligible to this generation.

At the moment Mosley is in jail. The next few weeks will prove whether he was just a Mayfair playboy, strutting around in black shirt because that was the only way he could attract attention to himself. Strachey is writing Marxist literature. And by a strange paradox his latest book contains the most damning criticism of the vital part of Roosevelt's New Deal which has yet found its way into print.

The amusing part of Strachey's latest book is that the author is one of the few men considered so dangerous by the U.S. that he was excluded by direct order of the government—chiefly because of the clamor raised by vociferous right-wingers in the republic. Yet my guess is that the Republic publicity machine will borrow profusely from the book ("A Program for Progress," Gollancz, London). Because with crystal-clear argument Strachey proves that if we want the capitalist system to operate at all, even temporarily, we must permit it to be profitable enough to induce it to do so.

In other words his real criticism of the New Deal arrives at the same place as does that of Wendell Wilkie, who seems likely to be the political white hope of Big Business in the United States.

WHY THE CHANGE?

ANYONE WHO TAKES the trouble to compare Strachey's latest book with his prophetic volume of 1933 ("The Coming Struggle for Power") will wonder at the apparent change that has come over the author. In the earlier volume this aristocrat admitted that a left-wing revolution in western Europe would probably for some time submerge the former standards of living of the comfortable class. The prospect did not seem to bother him. But now all is changed: he foresees the day when progressive governments will have to take over the system, as is, and make it work. He realizes that if they do not make it work in a reasonably short time, that their government will be unable to withstand the impatience of the people.

Strachey proposes stern steps to prevent the flight of capital from Britain on advent to power of a really progressive government. Thus at last Strachey faces up to one of the basic realities of British economics—that is, that the United Kingdom has been able to sustain the population which she has maintained partly because of her income from capitalistic investment abroad. If for any reason those investments cease to yield returns to Britain the whole British economy is going to be vitally upset.

In other words if this war, or subsequent upheavals were to wipe out the ownership of property now held overseas a considerable percentage of the British people would either have to starve, move, or be fed from some source not yet organized. One such source might be the united European Nazi state which Hitler proposes to establish. It might be much the same thing, flying the Red flag. Or it might be something not yet visible.

But the political thinking of Britain is definitely clarified by this clear-cut recognition by the arch-champion of drastic change that unless and until there is some other agency able and willing to do for Britain what the capitalistic system has done it is not only desirable but absolutely vital to maintain that system temporarily, at least in large part.

"If you wish success in life, make perseverance your bosom friend, experience your wise counsellor, caution your elder brother, and hope your guardian genius."—Addison.

"Success in life depends upon persistent effort, upon the improvements of moments more than upon any other thing."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"We can do anything we want to if we stick to it long enough."—Helen Keller.

"Everybody finds out, sooner or later, that all success worth having is founded on Christian rules of conduct."—Henry Martyn Field.

Britain Goes It Alone

LONDON (By Cable)—

NEWS OF FRANCE'S decision to give up the fight brought demands from the British press today that everything be done without delay to buttress United Kingdom defences to carry on the struggle to a victorious end.

"The full brunt of the war must now fall on this island," Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said in urging that the British Isles be converted into a floating fortress.

The London Daily News said there was no need to be dismayed "if the nation rises as one man to the towering height of the struggle."

Both papers repeated the authoritative statement, issued in London last night that "Britain is firmly and resolutely determined to continue until victory has been won."

FROM THE NEWS EMPIRE

The News expressed confidence Germany can be brought down if the Empire's every effort and resource is put behind the war effort. As a starter it suggested the slashing of all imports excepting food and war materials, and reimposition of fuel rationing.

The Standard presented the same idea in these words: "No strong point must be left unguarded. No resource must be left unused. No man must be without duty. The sea is still our strength. This island which floats upon it must become a vast battleship thickly armored and hugely gunned, able to smite fearful vengeance against any who dare touch one of its turrets."

There was no criticism of France for her decision to lay down her arms. She was pictured as a nation which suffered a sequence of hammering blows which broke all but her soul. "Since the day when those first essential bridgeheads on the Meuse were lost, an overpowering weight of metal and manpower has been hurled against her," the Standard commented.

TO BE EMULATED

To the Editor:—During the City Council meeting of June 3, 1940, on motion of Alderman Worthington, seconded by Alderman Gadsden, and by unanimous agreement, the members of the City Council stood with bowed heads to offer in silence a prayer of thanks to Almighty God for His goodness and mercy shown during the last few days in the safe deliverance from a position of grave peril in Flanders and successful evacuation to England and French ports of approximately 335,000 Allied troops who had been almost completely surrounded by German forces in overwhelming numbers. We are often too ready to cry to God in our distress and, when in a miraculous way He gives deliverance, we are apt to ignore the supernatural and credit ourselves with the skill and power which, we claim, wrought the deliverance.

His Majesty the King has led the way in the spiritual as well as in the secular for which the nation ought to be very grateful. It is quite an inspiration to see the leader of a great Empire, together with his people, bow the head in thanksgiving as well as in supplication; in praise as well as in prayer to Almighty God. The greatness of a nation is measured by its attitude toward God and His Word as exemplified by a devoted King, and of official and representative bodies. The example of the City Council of Victoria should, in this instance, be emulated over the whole of the Empire and God's blessing will surely follow such an action! L. J. ECKMAN.

A NUISANCE CASE

To the Editor:—There were besides myself eight other defence witnesses on Mrs. Kate McNeill's charge for being a nuisance and fined $19.

We are very much annoyed by a reported statement in this case under head "Nuisance Charge" insinuating that their evidence was given to conceal the real situation.

Every word of Mrs. McNeill's letter in Victoria Times of June 11 is simple truth. Her little dairy is a bright spot of cleanliness, well managed and up to date. Now just a word on the charge that she is causing a continuous nuisance on a cow pasture across the road, bought in at tax sale by the City of Victoria.

While I do not express any views derogatory to the health authorities (they are the hirelings of the municipalities, and of course act according to their conscience)—much less would I dare to criticize the judgment of a police magistrate. Yet to the mayor of Victoria and to the people of Saanich I do say this: Please study Edmund Burke's remark (in court) regarding corporations, viz.: "A corporation is a most despicable thing; it cannot be punished; it has neither a body to be kicked nor a soul to be damned." But then it's so easy to make a "goat" of a poor Saanich farmer."

Give some of the Dollars you Spend a "Return Ticket"

They'll come back when you need them most from Imperial Life

Mr. T. receives $100 a month for life

Back in 1927, Mr. T., a retailer, decided to attach "return tickets" to some of the dollars that passed through his hands. So he took an Imperial Life Policy at 44 years of age. Today he is just past 55.

He has retired from active business and receives a cheque from Imperial Life for $100 every month. Mr. T. hardly missed the deposits he made with the Company, and now he is assured of financial independence for life.

TWENTY or twenty-five years hence the dollars you invest in Imperial Life Assurance will return to you. You will be tired by then; ready for a rest—a change. How acceptable, how useful they will be—those "homeing" dollars you have saved—the ones that come back. Out of all those that have passed through your hands they will be the only ones that really count.

Meanwhile, your Imperial Life Policy will give you protection every day. Should the unexpected happen, your family will be taken care of. Thousands of men answer the uncertainties of business and routine investment, with the certainty of an Imperial Life Policy—always at par, and protected from loss.

Every day is important. See the Imperial Life representative at once.

Angling

By "CAP" THORSEN
After more than a month's lapse, Brentwood professionals have hung out the "good fishin'" sign at the Saanich Inlet fishing ground.

Last week the 1940 salmon season's first sizeable summer run of springs found its way into the waters, composed mostly of fish in the smaller brackets of between 10 and 12 pounds, but including big ones in the bronze and silver button classes.

"There are plenty of fish in the inlet now," came the word from the professionals.

The majority of the inlet's anglers have completed the annual spring clean-up on their boats with the fish starting to put in an appearance, the big fleet of sportfishing craft should soon be "on the hunt" again.

"In my opinion, there will be plenty of weighty fish pulled out of the inlet this year," was the forecast of little Len Holyoak, who this week hooked two large beauties.

GETS HIS SILVER BUTTON

The proudest angler in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association last week was F. C. "Cam" McPherson, who reeled in the largest salmon of the current season with a No. 7 diamond spoon to cop his coveted silver button.

It weighed 31½ pounds and gave the angler his fill of action for one day. The other fish taken in this class was hooked by Jack Morritt. He had a 30-pounder in a basket of five salmon, but as he was not a member of the V.S.I.A.A. he did not qualify for a silver button.

L. Holyoak bobbed back into the angling picture last Wednesday with a pair of 25-pounders, which received many admiring glances from persons passing Wilson and Lenfesty's store on Government Street Thursday. They were taken on a Mae West spoon. Len has hooked four buttons specimens this season and is in the top roost in the race for the Poodle Dog Cup.

Last week nearly all boats brought back fish, catches ranging from 3 to 4 fish. Fred Willey caught five, with the largest 18 pounds. The top-weighting fish in J. Robinson's bag was 18 pounds and the same applied to B. Johnston's catch. Fred Smith and party reeled in a trio of fish, largest 12 pounds.

SALMON AT ESQUIMALT

Closer to home, Esquimalt Harbor, salmon are running in large numbers. Anglers did well during last week. Using a No. 5 Wonder spoon, 50 feet of cutty-hunk line and one pound of weight, Stanley Dimoline caught 31 fish during the last few days. They were big and small, largest weighing 27, 25, 22, 18 and 17½ pounds. "I've never enjoyed finer fishing in my life," Stanley said. The only drawback is the wind, which is plenty strong and makes fishing difficult. Gordy Bell of the soccer Bells has been having good luck. He has caught the biggest of any, a 37-pounder, and lots smaller. Al Wilson reeled in a 14-pounder out there. Bill Flater is still reeling them in plentifully and Alec Merriman has been having some good sport.

From Cowichan Bay comes word that there are still fish around and from upper island trout fishing spots. Upper and Lower Campbell Lakes, Sprout Lake, Great Central Lake and others, reports have it fishing is going strong.

Dougan's Lake trout population is taking a beating at the hands of Bob Hawkes and Les Gelling and their girl friends, Miss Anne Sharp and Miss Wynna Donaldson. Vancouver, this foursome took out 24 trout with spinner and worm.

ALBERNI—Fire broke out this morning at 3.30 and destroyed the Presbyterian church and manse. It started in the vestry, supposedly from defective electric wiring, and had too big a headway for the fighters to do anything but save adjoining property.

KING AND QUEEN SEE NEW BOMBERS—In the course of a recent tour, King George and Queen Elizabeth visited the Rootes Airframe Factory, where they saw large numbers of Blenheim bombers under construction. Their Majesties, shown above as they passed down a long avenue of almost finished planes, chatted with many of the workers, who enthusiastically cheered them.

Urges Knitters to Keep Up Good Work

Mrs. V. G. Colquhoun, wife of Col. Colquhoun, officer commanding the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, writing to Mrs. Carew Martin of the local auxiliary, states that she is in charge of distribution of comforts to the Victoria boys stationed in England, and urges the need of knitters continuing their efforts.

"Miss Eve Cotton and I," she writes, "are kept busy distributing a steady stream of socks, pullovers, caps scarfs and gloves. We do the best we can and scrounge in all directions, but there is always a waiting list."

AMBULANCES ARE RED CROSS NEED

Each day adds another ambulance to the stream that British Columbians are planning to send overseas. Officials at the provincial division of the Red Cross have been able to make no definite statement of figures, although it is estimated that nearly 30 ambulances have been promised from this province. A cheque was received at the local Red Cross headquarters on Saturday from the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion for the ambulance donated by that organization. There is still an urgent call for these vehicles of mercy, according to latest advices received by the Red Cross. The cost of an ambulance fully equipped is approximately $2,100.

Guide Rally at Government House

Good progress is being made with the preparations for the Girl Guide rally to be held in the grounds of Government House on Wednesday, June 26, through the kindness of His Honor and Mrs. W. E. Hamber.

The march past should be particularly effective in the beautiful setting of velvet lawns and green trees, as in addition to all the local companies, Guides and Rangers of the Saanich division are coming in for the event, as well as some Guides from Duncan.

After the march past the new First Victoria West Company (which has its headquarters in James Bay) will receive the gift of a King's color from Mrs. James Baker and Mrs. Kyle Symonds, and the prize will be presented to the winners in the recent divisional patrol competition. The new Salvation Army Brownie Pack from Victoria West will make its first appearance and take part in the Brownie grand hove!

Local companies are working hard to prepare interesting demonstrations of Guide activities which will be shown later in the afternoon, after tea has been served in the rose garden. The local associations and parents' committees are arranging stalls of home cooking, candy and useful articles, as well as games of skill and chance, through which it is hoped to augment the funds of the Guide companies and Brownie packs. This money is urgently needed as the organization is finding increasing difficulty in carrying on as prices increase and funds diminish through the diversion resulting from the urgent call for assistance to other patriotic services.

GRADUATING CLASS GUESTS AT TEA

Honoring the graduating class of Sir James Douglas School, a graduation tea was given by the P.T.A. of the school on Friday. Entering the decorated auditorium at 3, the pupils took their places at the long tables which had been arranged in "horseshoe" shape and decorated with purple and gold flowers, the school colors. Seated at smaller tables about the room were the parents, who had been invited to enjoy the afternoon.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, wife of the principal, presided at the table for members of the school board and their wives, Mrs. A. S. Christie, Mrs. B. Parsons and Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, representing the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., also Mrs. J. Cameron and Mrs. Cunningham. Mrs. A. S. Christie, regent, on behalf of the chapter, presented prizes to the three outstanding pupils of the school, these being Margaret Husband, Charlotte French and Peter Townshend.

Mrs. H. J. Cunningham, president of the P.T.A., welcomed the guests. A short program included songs by the graduating boys and a dress parade by the girls, showing dresses they had made in class. Margaret Husband gave the valedictory address, and in closing she expressed thanks to Mr. Wilson and all the teachers. Mr. Wilson gave an address to the pupils and Michael Bernmann thanked the teachers, also the members of the P.T.A., for their helpfulness.

Tea was enjoyed, at the close of which Mrs. W. H. Yardley expressed the thanks of the parents.

Local Guide Will Represent Canada

Company Leader Phyllis Pritchard of the 6th Victoria East (Joan of Arc) Guide Company has been selected by the Dominion Council of the Canadian Girl Guides to represent Canada at the Western Hemisphere Encampment to be held at Camp Andree Clark, Briarcliffe Manor, New York, from August 14 to 28.

The founder of the Girl Scouts, Juliette Low for many years has been intensely interested in furthering friendly relations between the Guides of the world. She had much to do with the founding of the English Home of Guiding at Foxlease, and it is through her generosity that international camps are held from time to time. Through the Juliette Low Memorial Award Guides from many countries will attend the camp at Briarcliffe Manor this year. Phyllis Pritchard and a Guide from Winnipeg being the lucky representatives of Canada this year.

Phyllis, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Pritchard, Dufferin Avenue, began her Guide career as a Brownie in Saskatchewan. When her family moved to the coast she joined the 2nd Victoria North, Tillikum, Brownie Pack, ultimately becoming a sixer and (as a first class Brownie) "flying up" to Guides. She now holds the Guide first class award, and numerous proficiency badges. In addition to being a prizewinner in grade 11 of the Oak Bay High School, she is a keen athlete, and holds the B.C. junior championships for swimming breaststroke and free style. She belongs to a Guide family, as her mother is district commissioner for the North Victoria district, and her younger sister is also a Guide.

WEDDINGS

WELLBURN—WARING

At St. John's Church on Saturday evening, the marriage was solemnized of Audrey Gertrude, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Waring, 3415 Bethune Avenue, and George Matthew Wellburn, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wellburn, 1331 Grant Street. Madonna lilies and yellow, white and blue flowers formed the background of the ceremony performed by Canon F. A. P. Chadwick. Mr. Ian Galliford was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white figured moire taffeta, with high neckline and long sleeves, the full skirt extending into a long train, her hip-length veil of net falling from a coronet of white flowers and orange blossoms. She wore an onyx and pearl pendant and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, sweet peas and roses.

Miss Dorothy Waring was her sister's maid of honor, in pale blue georgette over taffeta, and their cousin, Miss Elsie Foster, was bridesmaid in a similar frock of yellow. They both wore elbow-length gloves of white lace and headbands of flowers with ribbon streamers, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. Kenneth Henderson was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Frank Waring and Mr. James Haggart.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Sergeant Major and Mrs. W. H. Wood, Wilson Street. The bride's party stood between baskets of roses and delphiniums before a flower-banked fireplace in the drawing-room. The bride's cake, embedded in pink tulle on a lace-covered supper table, stood between lighted white tapers in cut-crystal holders and vases of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Waring received the guests in a gown of figured blue nylon and a wide-brimmed hat of duty pink straw trimmed with blue flowers. Receiving with her was the bridegroom's mother, in a navy and white ensemble and a matching hat. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Wellburn will reside at Cadboro Bay. The bride traveled in a mauve wool faille dressmaker suit, a navy blue topcoat, with a corsage of cream rosebuds, and a blue floral hat.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Wellburn and family, Deerholm, V.I.; Mr. and Mrs. T. Wellburn and family, Duncan, and Miss "Bunny" Pickock of Courtenay, were guests.

SIDNEY DANCE SUCCESS

The H.M.S. Endeavour Chapter, I.O.D.E., Sidney, held its first dance in the North Saanich Service Club Hall recently. The affair proved to be most successful both financially and socially, about 175 guests, including a number of H.M. forces, dancing to the music of Len Acres' orchestra. The intermission dances were played by Mr. and Mrs. Wakefield.

The stage was decorated with bunting, a large I.O.D.E. emblem, entwined with holly, on the curtain at the back, and large baskets of roses placed on the floor, finished the setting. Bunting and flowers and baskets of flowers also covered the walls of the hall, and the lights were hung with streamers of red, white and blue.

The supper table decorations were also carried out in chapter colors, the tables centred with vases of red roses.

Recruiting Age Limits Widened

With France's appeal for an armistice demonstrating the need for complete mobilization of Canadian forces, response to the Canadian Scottish Regiment's appeal for recruits showed a definite improvement this morning, recruiting officers said.

At the same time it was announced that the field for recruits has been extended by enlarging the age limits. Men from 19 to 45 years old in A category will now be taken for overseas service. Previously the limit was 35, although the older men were taken for special positions in the home-defence units.

The recruiting office today said it had received orders to take men up to 45 for the overseas unit. The height minimum is 5 feet 4 inches.

As the campaign began to gather momentum officers of the regiment were hopeful they will be able to fill the ranks from among Vancouver Island men instead of taking those from the mainland where there has been an enthusiastic wave of enlistment.

The Scottish needs 500 men to bring its battalion up to wartime strength.

Lieut. Col. H. E. Goodman, recruiting officer for the military district, said that on the mainland coast and throughout the interior volunteers were still pouring into the recruiting offices.

The B.C. Regiment will be filled in a few days and at Kamloops a start has been made on 250 men for the Rocky Mountain Rangers, a home-defence unit.

SPECIAL POLICE

Special volunteer police units have been formed at centres throughout the province to assist regular police in cases of civil disorder, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said today.

Mr. Wismer said the organization has been carried along quietly by the provincial police for some time and is now practically complete.

The units have been formed in areas under provincial police control. Men have been picked for their loyalty and public spiritedness and sworn in as special officers. They are serving without remuneration and will only be called into action in case of emergency.

In the meantime they are being given a certain amount of training so that they will be in a position to assist.

A large number of letters of congratulation on the showing of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team at the Portland Rose Festival, held from June 5 to 9, have been received by Norman Foster, director and instructor of the team. Multnomah County Commissioner, the Portland Journal, the Oregon Journal and the Maca-bees are among the prominent organizations who wrote letters of congratulation, praising the international and friendly spirit of the girls and their leader.

James Barclay, who said he remembered nothing about the incident, was convicted in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of wilfully damaging premises at 561 Fisgard Street, Saturday night. He was remanded till tomorrow for sentence. Constable G. L. Greenwood said he saw Barclay put his fist through a window alongside two others which had been broken just previous to the constable's arrival. Value of replacing the broken windows was $36.20.

Dr. Williams drew attention to the high prevalence of the disease and the necessity of doing everything possible to suppress the sources of its distribution. The association agreed to the request of the Dominion Day celebration committee to join in plans for a religious service June 30 at Beacon Hill Park.

'Gigantic Battle for All,' Juliana Tells Canadians

Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and her two young daughters, Princess Beatrix, 2, and Princess Irene, 9 months, on the rear platform of their train, as they arrived at Montebello, Que.

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP)—

Princess Juliana of the Netherlands introduced herself to Canadians today in simple and homely words which asked their love but not their pity.

"No woman ever felt as proud as I do today of the marvelous heritage of my own people," she said in an address over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. She spoke from the Seignior Club in this Ottawa Valley district where she and her two children are spending the first part of their stay in Canada, where they have come because they are on the "black list" of the German Gestapo.

"They have always lived their own lives," the Princess said of her countrymen. "They had always maintained the right of the individual to his own liberty, to the liberty of his person and to the liberty of his soul."

"When others were denied these rights in other parts of the world they welcomed them—they took them into their hearts and into their homes. But when suddenly they were placed before the terrible choice of surrendering those rights or of dying in their defence, they never hesitated. They died, and everlasting glory to the men of our armies, who, hating and loathing the very idea of violence, stood firm until they were completely overwhelmed by the superior force and the treason of an enemy unto whom they had always been a generous and helpful friend."

For these reasons, she said, "never speak to me of pity. Pity is for the weak and our terrible fate has made us stronger than ever before." She asked instead for "strengthening love."

The war, she declared, "is not a gigantic battle for one nation alone but for all nations. Not only your and our life is threatened but our freedom of conscience."

With a brief, "my name is Juliana," the Princess addressed herself to "my unknown friends in Canada," with an added word in French to "you Canadians who share with me the blood of our French ancestors," in whose language she spoke her opening sentences. She also addressed the people of the United States who heard her over nation-wide networks in that country.

The Netherlands Princess had widely concern for her husband, Prince Bernhard, now separated from her by an ocean, who she said "is by nature reckless, with no regard for his own safety."

"And then there are my two children," she said of the little princesses who are with her, Beatrix, 2½, and Irene, nine months. "You will see them quite often; for we do not like to lock ourselves up—it is not in our nature. I hope that you will be kind to them. I am their mother and, therefore, I rather think they are very sweet children. Above all things they smile easily. Please give them your smile and they will be happy."

Her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, had stayed in England for she was queen not only of the Netherlands, but of an empire. She thanked the people of Canada and the United States for their assistance in Netherlands relief efforts.

Saanich Students Publish Paper

The Inkspot, publication of the North Saanich School, recently published its fourth and final issue for the year, to be known as the Graduation Number.

The number gives evidence of the fact that the members of the Journalism Club have profited from their year's experience in writing, editing, publishing and financing a school paper. The various items in the newspaper include the editorial, the sports department, Aunt Priscilla's page, which burlesques the Dorothy Dix column, a humor and contest column, and reports from clubs and societies of the school. There are also several photographs showing some of the school activities.

The editorial staff of the Inkspot is president, Sydney Lines; secretary-treasurer, Lorna Dignan; editor-in-chief, Russell Munro; humor and contest editor, Arthur Beers; advertising managers, John Furman and Molly Burdett; sports editor, Elin Jones and Sydney Lines; circulation, reporters and club editors, Alan North, Norman Lee, Pat Healey and Eddy Lee; sponsor, A. E. Vogee.

Army Campaign Reaches $13,357

Pledges to the Salvation Army's war and home services drive in Greater Victoria increased by nearly $1,000 over the report given out Saturday by officials at headquarters, Government Street.

At noon today the total pledges were $13,357. Saturday they were $12,405.

The $20,000 campaign will continue this week until all districts and divisions have been covered by canvassers.

Thieves entered a Blue Line bus parked near the company stand at Yates and Vancouver Streets and rifled the cash box, according to a weekend city police report.

The entire proceeds from the sale of and advertising matter in the programs for the Dominion Day celebration will, owing to the kindness of Joe North, be given to the local branch of Red Cross.

Howe Uses Wide New Powers

Canada Speeds Up Shells, Bren Output

OTTAWA (CP)—Impetus lent by the dire need of a British Empire compelled by capitulation of its ally to face its foes alone will send Canadian warlike industry into a crescendo of production.

Munitions Minister Howe announced today a sharp increase in output of arms and munitions for Britain and Canada. Just before the munitions and supply minister joined Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his colleagues in a cabinet meeting, precipitated by France's decision to cease hostilities, his department announced production of anti-tank and anti-aircraft shells had just been increased by one-third, and that even that rate would be stepped up as soon as possible.

While the three anti-tank and anti-aircraft shell plants "somewhere in Canada" turn out large supplies of deadly, gleaming new shells, the announcement said, Bren guns are in capacity production on a seven-day week basis and the contract is six months ahead of schedule.

Rapid progress has been made recently in every sphere of the munitions program, the department said. The government by order-in-council has already given Mr. Howe wide powers to mobilize industry in every way possible so as to speed production of munitions.

Parliament has given first reading to a bill sanctioning such powers for the munitions and supply ministry. It embraces "all the powers I could think of," Mr. Howe told the House.

The measure will give authority for the government to finance and control war industries operated by private interests, and work is already under way under such an arrangement, it was announced.

Appointment of 13 election commissioners in Mackenzie riding seats among government announcements today but there was no indication as to when a by-election will be held for the seat left vacant by the death of J. M. Bryan.

BUSINESS WOMEN GIVE AMBULANCE

The Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs has donated an ambulance to Canada for overseas service, Miss Margaret Clay, national president, said this morning in the course of a brief interview on her return to Victoria after an absence of six weeks in the east, during which she spoke to a number of clubs across Canada, and attended a meeting of the American Library Association in the eastern States.

The gift of an ambulance was decided upon at a meeting of the federation executive held in Calgary on June 8, Miss Clay said, and the money was immediately voted to cover the cost of an up-to-the-minute, fully-equipped motor ambulance.

Belgians Enlist

Belgians resident in Canada prior to September, 1939, may enlist in the Canadian army, according to J. Van Rieckstal, Belgian consul-general in B.C.

He said the Belgian legion in Ottawa had informed him that either naturalized or unnaturalized Belgians could enlist.

The agreement was made between the legion and the Department of National Defence, Van Rieckstal said.

Minor personal injuries were suffered and two cars were badly damaged in an accident involving three cars on Gorge Road late Saturday night, according to a city police report.

G. L. Moor, 2842 Colquitz Road, Dick Bellak, 916 North Park Street, and W. Fraser, Balmoral Hotel, were drivers of the cars in the report said.

Cars driven by William Johnson, 1007 Parkington Street, and Roy J. Wright, Jordan River, were involved in a crash on John Street, Saturday night.

City Hall Briefs

Zoning By-law Change Sought

Amendment of the city zoning by-law by introduction of a clause requiring majority approval of residents of a locality for any rezoning in their district is suggested to the city by H. W. Davey, Victoria barrister, as the result of efforts made to secure conversion of St. Charles Street premises into bachelors' apartments. The existing by-law is not sufficiently strong to permit the zoning board of appeal to disapprove a project other than through refusal to accept certain plans and specifications. Mr. Davey points out that amendment of such plans and specifications would make an appeal permissible even in localities where the scheme was viewed with disfavor by adjoining residents.

The letter is accompanied by a petition dealing with the specific instance now under consideration.

A fund of $458 will be turned over to the Solarium from the city-sponsored May 24 festivities, Alderman W. H. Davies, celebrations committee chairman, reported at the wind-up meeting on the Victoria Day events in the City Hall today.

Allegations of laxity in city garbage collections are contained in a letter received at the City Hall today from Horace W. Carpenter.

Hopes for a return to angle parking on that section of Douglas Street where cars now may only be parked parallel are contained in letters from five Douglas Street concerns. Those writing in support of reversion to angle parking are John Cochrane, O. H. Dorman, Ival Meat Market, Crook's Stores Ltd., and Stuart's Meat Market.

Permission to have a delegation appear before the City Council at its next meeting to explain opposition of residents of the district to the proposal to rezone a lot near the Fairfield Road-Cook Street intersection is sought by Miss Mary W. Hamilton.

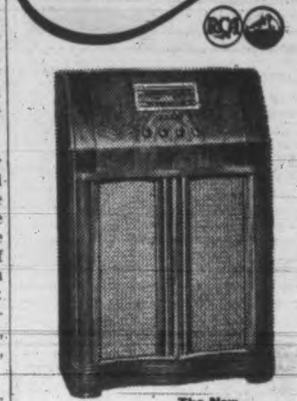

An invitation to attend the special St. John Baptist Day services at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday next has been issued by the local branch of the St. John Ambulance Association to the council. Attending the service will be the Victoria Ambulance Division No. 65, Victoria Nursing Division No. 61 and cadets.

Information on housing conditions in Victoria is sought in a circular letter from the Department of Finance, Ottawa.

Parking regulations in Port Angeles are outlined in a letter received from that city today.

Slight damage was done to cars driven by William O. Baker, 1144 Oscar Street and Eric Wilkins, Island Taxi Stand, which were involved in a collision at Yates and Douglas Streets yesterday afternoon.

Old Comrades Meet

Old soldiers, some of whom had not seen each other since their days in France during the first Great War, met and renewed old acquaintanceship at the First Canadian Pioneer Battalion outing, held at the home of Capt. W. C. Winkel, McTavish Road, Esquimalt, last Saturday afternoon.

The battalion was well represented, and old comrades gathered from such outside points as Alberni, Seattle and Vancouver. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. W. C. Winkel, who was assisted by her two daughters, Mrs. A. W. Smith and Mrs. Edmund Ironside. After the enjoyable afternoon the "Last Post" was sounded by Bugler Drysdale, a former member of the battalion.

WE ARE NOT ALONE' AT ATLAS

The new Paul Muni starring picture "We Are Not Alone," adapted from the best-selling novel by James Hilton, is showing today at the Atlas Theatre.

Muni's role is a complete departure from the historical biographies he has done in the past several years.

Appearing with him in the role of the dancer is Jane Bryan, brilliant young dramatic actress whose performance in "The Old Maid" won her the role opposite Muni.

"DODSWORTH" ON PLAZA SCREEN

Sinclair Lewis' popular novel, "Dodsworth," which has been adapted to the screen with Ruth Chatterton and Walter Huston in the leading roles opened today at the Plaza Theatre.

The second feature is the hilarious comedy romance, "Woman Chases Man," starring Joel McCrea and Miriam Hopkins.

"The Story of 40 Little Mothers"

"The Story of Forty Little Mothers," heart-warming comedy starring Eddie Cantor, opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

The prince of comedy gags emerges as a real actor, Minus his wisecracks, he plays a very human timid professor who inherits a baby after he saves its mother from suicide and incidentally annexes a lot of trouble.

Cantor proves definitely that he does not need a chorus of beautiful girls as a background for his talents.

Others who add to the enjoyment of the picture are Ralph Morgan, Bonita Granville, Diana Lewis, Margaret Early, Martha O'Driscoll, Charlotte Munier and Louise Seidel, not to mention Baby Quintanilla.

MARLENE DIETRICH HERE IN 'DESTINY'

A new Marlene Dietrich, vastly improved and bearing little resemblance to her previous appearances except in glamorous beauty, returned to the screen today when Universal's "Destiny Rides Again" opened at the Oak Bay Theatre.

Scattered through the records of Royal naval battles are deeds of such valor and heroism that they cannot be matched by even the most imaginative fiction writers.

Two of the most outstanding accomplishments by units of the Royal Navy, which have taken place during World War No. 2, are depicted in a new British picture.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a boy 16 years old. All my life I have been a spoiled brat. My mother separated from my father and took me with her and I have never known what it was to have a father. We have always lived with my grandmother and aunt and they pampered me and babied me until now at 16 I am fed up with it. I want to leave my family and go out in the world to make a man of myself. I will finish high school this year and I've just simply got to strike out for myself. I hate to do this because my mother and grandmother and aunt have always been so good to me, but I can't stand the "baby boy" stuff any longer. What do you think about it?

Answer: I don't think that any boy in the world is more to be pitied than the hapless victim of an overfond mother. And when you add a doting grandmother and aunt to this conclave of worshippers it is a marvel that any youth has enough strength and spirit to survive it.

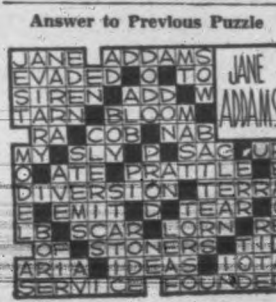

It doesn't palliate the crime they commit against the boy that it is motivated by misguided love. The result is the same as if it were inspired by hate. They weaken him by coddling him. They cultivate selfishness in him by giving him everything he wants. They are so afraid he will get hurt they keep him tied to their apron strings and make a sissy out of him. They concoct a legend about his having a delicate chest, or being nervous to excuse his never going to work. They can't bear to be parted from him, so he is kept from all contact with the world of men and becomes an old woman himself. All of us know dozens of cases of boys who have been ruined by the women who love them. And nothing can be done about it unless the boy himself happens to have enough strength to break the chains that bind him and get away from his loving jailers.

This is what I strongly advise you to do, Ellis: Insist upon your mother sending you off to college, somewhere away from home. If she refuses to do this, get a job for yourself.
